ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I would like to express my appreciation and gratitude to Assoc. Prof. Dr. Benchaphan Ekasingh, my academic advisor as well as the chairperson of thesis committee for her generous guidance invaluable suggestions and support throughout my entire study program.

Thanks and respects are also extended to Ajarn Phrek Gypmantasiri and Ajarn Laxmi Worachai and Dr. Pornchai Preechapanya, member of the thesis committees, whose kind ideas, constructive comments and suggestions were given.

I am also indebted and sincerely offer my gratitude to all of Mae Hae Highland Agricultural Development Center staff, who supported my study during the field survey in Huay Hoi village.

Special thanks are given to the Hmong people at Huay Hoi village whose kindness and patience helped answer many questions. Special mentions are Mr. Dang Sitthikongden, head of Huay Hoi village and all of interviewers in this village who given help in field survey.

I am also indebted to all my friends for helping and participation in field survey, shared their idea, and all over period in Chiang Mai University.

I wish to record my gratefulness and appreciation to all lecturers, academic and administrative staffs of Agricultural Systems Program for sharing their knowledge, experience and cordial support during my study. I would like to extend my thanks to all Agricultural Systems students for their friendship and kindness that shared an idea and gave moral support for each other.

Most of all, I wish to express gratitude to my parents for their understanding, patience, which continuously encouragement and support everything which are sources of inspiration which led me to complete the graduate study.
