ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

To Prasert and Saipin Yodmongkon

The past four years has been enervated, pursuing Ph.D. required so much energy. Many people supported me physically and mentally; therefore, I would like to thank them particularly.

The most important people that I would like to express my gratitude are my family. I want to thank you my beloved father, mother and sisters who always support me in every possible way during the years. Thank you for continuously and unconditionally supporting my ambitions. I dedicate this thesis to you, dad and mom.

My warm gratitude goes to Dr. Nopasit Chakpitak for giving me the opportunity and support to fulfill my personal ambition. I thank you for challenging me and guiding me through this research. I could not have been more fortunate. You are a wonderful supervisor, thank you.

Next, I want to thank my co-supervisors, assistance professor Dr. Napat Hanpornchai and Dr. Tirapot Chandarasupasang. Thank you for listening and giving tips to conduct the research. Both of you have been inspiring examples to me.

I also thank all the people and parties involved in the empirical part of this research: Mea-hiya community cultural council, Mea-hiya municipality, Soraya Shotiruk, Walaiphorn Mahamai, Ravee Phoewhawm, Piyanart Chatuketu, and Dr. Jade Donavanik.

I also thank all the people that participated in the research. Without you, this research would not have been possible. Thank you
