ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It is my great pleasure to thank all those who have supported and helped me during my studies at Chiang Mai University. Firstly, I would like to express my deepest thanks and profound appreciation to my major advisor, Assistant Professor Dr. Pornchai Rachtanapun, for his critical suggestions, valuable comments and guidance for my research. He always had helpful advice and taught me how to write a good paper. Additionally, I would like to thank Assistant Professor Dr. Adisak Joomwong, my second advisor, for giving me valuable suggestions and comments for my thesis. I also have to thank Dr. Yaowaluk Chanbang for her suggestions and giving many comments throughout my work. I must sincerely thank Assistant Professor Dr. Jamnong Uthaibutra for his useful suggestion throughout the seminar. I must also thank Dr. Chu Doan Thanh, my external examiner, who gave me helpful advice and encouragement.

I would also like to thank the staff at Postharvest Technology Research Institute and Faculty of Agro-Industry, Chiang Mai University who spent a lot of time teaching me how to use the lab equipment. They are truly professional staff. I would also like to thank the College of Food Industry and Danang University in Vietnam for their help during time that I conducted experiments in Vietnam. As well, thanks and love to all of my Thai friends and Vietnamese friends, who shared their feelings, experiences and knowledge with me at Chiang Mai.

The financial support from The Agricultural and Science Technology Project - VIE 2283(SF), at the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development in Vietnam is acknowledged.

I must thank my parents and my parents in-law for their love and help. I thank my husband for his love, patience, and support. Finally, I cannot forget my lovely daughter and son who let me work, and gave me more force for my work.

Dang Thi Mong Quyen
